Just2Trade Launches Complex Options Trading Capabilities
Expanded trading platform now includes spread and straddle strategies

WASHINGTON – Today, discount online broker Just2Trade announced the launch of complex options trading capabilities on its newly expanded trading platform. In addition to the equity option strategies already offered, Just2Trade’s enhanced platform now includes price spreads, calendars, diagonals and straddles for $2.50 per leg and $.50 per option contract.

“We’re catering to the growing interest in advanced options trading among investors,” said Just2Trade President and CEO Fuad Ahmed. “The integration of complex options trading capabilities and options research tools gives our customers the opportunity to further capitalize on their investment strategies for the same low price.”

Designed for active investors who want to execute spread and straddle trades quickly and efficiently, the complex options functionality enables strategy selection directly from the option chain. With the addition of options research tools including an Options Calculator and Options Volatility Index, investors may research Greeks of any option, as well as assess historical and implied volatility.

“Our mission is to provide a superior trading platform and access to free tools. We offer $2.50 trades and continue to add new features; we do this because we’re one of the select brokers in the U.S. developing proprietary trading technology. Our aim is to help clients reach their investment goals at a low cost,” added Ahmed.

Just2Trade also announced that a line of educational tools are in development and will be launched later this year to accompany the complex options trading capabilities. The new tools will educate clients on option concepts and strategies.
